

Crucial Maps in the Early Cartography and Place-Nomenclature of the Atlantic Coast of Canada (Royal Society of Canada, Special Publications No. 7) By William Francis Ganong He was an early naturalist and by the age of seventeen he had first hand knowledge of numerous rivers and coastal areas of New Brunswick as well as the flora and fauna of the province, (19 February 1864 7 September 1941) was a Canadian botanist historian and cartographer, His botany career was spent mainly as a professor at Smith College in Northampton Massachusetts. In his private life he contributed to the historical and geographical understanding of his native New Brunswick, He was born in Carleton (now West Saint John) New Brunswick in 1864 the eldest of seven children, He is the brother of Susie Arthur Edwin and Kit Ganong Whidden: Stephen where his father James Harvey Ganong and uncle Gilbert Ganong established the now famous Ganong Brothers candy factory, It was expected that young William would enter the fa William Francis Ganong M, (19 February 1864 7 September 1941) was a Canadian botanist historian and cartographer, His botany career was spent mainly as a professor at Smith College in Northampton Massachusetts: In his private life he contributed to the historical and geographical understanding of his native New Brunswick, He was born in Carleton (now West Saint John) New Brunswick in 1864 the eldest of seven children. He is the brother of Susie Arthur Edwin and Kit Ganong Whidden. Stephen where his father James Harvey Ganong and uncle Gilbert Ganong established the now famous Ganong Brothers candy factory. It was expected that young William would enter the family business when he came of age but early on he showed an interest in the natural world. These interests extended to botany reading maps and exploring the countryside. Through his life he would come to have at least a working knowledge of French German Maliseet and Mi'kmaq: His explorations would continue throughout his life both on his own and with one or companions including Arthur H: He attended the University of New Brunswick where he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1884 and his Masters degree in 1886, The next year he went to Boston where in 1887 he received an A. He obtained a doctorate in biology from the University of Munich in 1894 and published two papers in the German language: It was probably at Harvard that he met Jean Murray Carmen sister of his friend and fellow Harvard student New Brunswick poet Bliss Carman, The marriage lasted thirty two years until her death in 1920: {site_link}

Crucial Maps in the Early Cartography and Place-Nomenclature of the Atlantic Coast of Canada (Royal Society of Canada Special Publications No[1]

William Francis Ganong M.A. Ph.D. LL.D. F.R.S.C. At the age of seven the family moved to St.A. Ph.D. LL.D. F.R.S.C. At the age of seven the family moved to St. He also showed a talent for languages. Pierce Mauran I. Furbish and George Upham Hay. He frequently prepared his own maps of these explorations.B. from Harvard University. They married in 1888. They had no children. 7).